FOREWORD

It wouldn't be P. A. without the students and teachers who are the life-blood of the school; the activities which revitalize our school spirit while providing an outlet for physical expression; the tower that watches over us like a sentinel; the traditions that have become an integral part of each of us.

It wouldn't be P. A. without all this. Each June sees the departure of a senior class; so it will be with the Class of 1962. However, Pinkerton will always be in our hearts, for this book will remind us that for three wonderful years . . . we were a vital part of the Academy.

Ever since our class first came to Pinkerton, both of you have given generously of your time and talents. You have been a fine example for us and have guided us by your kindness and patience. Although you, Mr. Lints, left at the end of our junior year, we never will forget all you did for us while you were here. We, the members of the Class of 1962, gratefully dedicate our yearbook to you, Joanne H. Cournoyer and Donald G. Lints.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Teaching understanding—the understanding of ourselves and the understanding of others, past and present—is the function of the Social Studies Department. Psychology, history and contemporary problems all have a common basis—the actions of the individual. By learning why we act, and by studying the actions of others, we are better able to predict the future and perhaps, to improve it.

Contemporary Problems

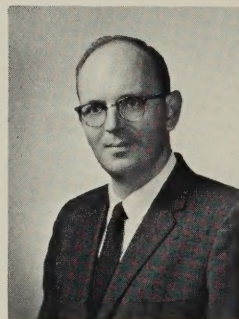

ENGLISH

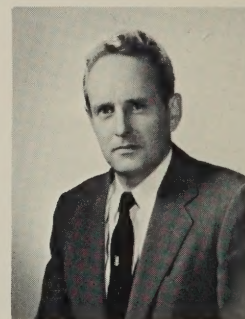

Mastery of the English language is essential if we are to be successful in our chosen professions. The fundamentals of grammar, public speaking, and literature are discussed and studied in all classes. From Shakespeare to Ogden Nash, from Thackeray to Mark Twain—all are introduced to the student who develops an appreciation of his heritage while gaining a working knowledge of his most valuable asset—the ability to speak and to write his native tongue.

MATHEMATICS

The teachers in our math department seek to develop our minds so that we will be able to think in a logical manner. General Math, Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry, Trigonometry, and Advanced Math all are taught with this central theme in mind. The teachers do a fine job of developing our thinking processes so that we may either handle everyday problems or go on to more complex aspects of the subject.

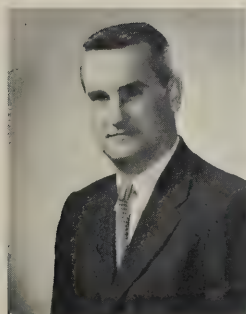

SCIENCE

Commander Alan Shepard has made Pinkerton Academy realize, more than ever, the value of secondary school science courses. The class lectures, the experiments, and the outside projects conducted in biology, physics, and chemistry classes aid the student in gaining a knowledge of the processes of the world and the life in it.

LANGUAGES

Parlez-vous francais? Habla usted Espanol? The answer to these questions is becoming frequently "si," thanks to the living language methods taught at Pinkerton. Backgrounds, too, are being built with classical Latin, and the cultural interests of Old World countries are becoming our interests. Today the mastery of languages presents exciting prospects to the student in life-enrichment, travel, and the choice of occupation.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

The Commercial Department prepares its students not only to go out and find their places in the business world, but also to go through school more easily and efficiently. Typing is useful for themes as well as tax reports. Shorthand can be used for taking notes from teachers and professors as well as from dictating bosses. The Commercial Department gives us the skills to function more ably in whatever field we choose.

AGRICULTURE

In the Agricultural Department the boys at Pinkerton gain skills and knowledge which will benefit them in their future. Through the management and care of the 55-acre farm, which has a herd of Guernsey and Holstein cattle, flocks of sheep, and chickens, the boys learn better to cope with farming problems. After this broad background in Agriculture, they can go on to further education in this most important field.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Through the music program at Pinkerton, the students learn to appreciate the different forms of music. The mysteries of both classical and modern harmonies are delved into within the confines of the music appreciation classes. Through practice many of the students learn much about music in the extracurricular music program. Glee Club, Band, and Chapel Choir are enjoyed by all those who are interested.

effort to prepare us for the future.

HOME ECONOMICS

The family and its needs form the basis of the Home Economics course. Balancing a budget, raising children, and making home life more pleasant are all phases of the course designed to prepare Pinkerton Academy girls for future home-making chores. Managing the school cafeteria gives them the experience and the chance for practical application of what they have learned.

THE LIBRARY

The Saltmarsh Library offers many advantages to the Pinkerton students. Just for the asking, the masterpieces of literature are available to all. A wide range of reference material along with books, magazines, pamphlets, interesting displays and a modern reading room with an atmosphere conducive to study are some of the features of our library.

SENIORS

It wouldn't be P. A. without a Senior Class to enjoy the many traditions and privileges that have been handed down over the years. The friends that we have made and the experiences that we have shared will long be remembered by the members of the Class of 1962.

CLASS HISTORY

The class of 1962 entered Pinkerton Academy as sophomores in the fall of 1959. Since then it has set many firsts.

That fall was highlighted by several events. First, during the Sophomore initiation we quickly learned that we were nothing special, as we had thought in junior high. Our Sophomore Reception then proved that we were accepted by the upper-classmen. Dick Laney enjoyed the ride in the baby carriage during the grand march. At the close of the football season, George Levesque earned 1962's first letter.

We also elected class officers: President, Dick Misiaszek; Vice Pres., Julie Holaday; Sec., Sue Bartlett; Treas., Dick Laney; Student Council members, Fred Forsyth and Carleen Coen. Our class cheer was written and our colors, blue and white, were chosen.

In the fall of our junior year, when we were the ones to do the initiating, we made the underclassmen look as ridiculous as possible. With the arrival of our class rings before Christmas, we began to feel pride at being members of the P. A. "family."

For several months busy committees planned the Junior Prom. As the big day drew close, color fights broke out on campus—the various classes were trying to make their class colors fly the highest. However, the Class of 1962 came through as John Chesleigh succeeded in planting the blue and white '62 banner on the front of the P. A. tower. We are sure all who attended the Prom agreed it was "A Lovely Way to Spend an Evening."

Now we were faced with another challenge, the Junior Play. "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" was presented by a talented cast under the direction of Miss Garland. Once again we set a record by selling 856 tickets.

As the year ended, we were saddened by the fact that Mr. Lints, our class adviser, was leaving to teach in Chicago. We all missed Mr. Lints, as he kept us moving and thinking at all times.

As our last year at P. A. started, we all enjoyed using our senior privileges. We found that something new had been added: for the first time in many years there were freshmen at Pinkerton.

Because of the high spirits of the victorious senior girls' field hockey team, they challenged the senior boys to a game. After a hard battle, the girls had to swallow their pride and admit defeat at the hands of the victorious boys led by Captain Fred Forsyth.

Although hurricane warnings were up, we decided to hold our senior corn roast at Chase's Grove. Since no cooking could be done in the ballroom and the rain had soaked the ground, we cooked our supper under tents. We all had a wet but wonderful evening.

For our senior play, we chose "You Can't Take It With You." After much work on the part of Miss Garland and the cast, the play was presented two nights to enthusiastic audiences.

As our class pictures were being taken, we realized our career as seniors was nearing an end. It then seemed not any time before we began to practice for graduation. Soon Baccalaureate exercises were held, and final exams were given. The Senior Howl, our fun day, made us forget our exam marks.

As Class Day and Graduation passed, we said goodbye to three wonderful years at Pinkerton Academy.

lettermen supervise school activities

Officers

Paul Bolster, Secretary-Treasurer; G. Levesque, President; Mr. Root, Adviser; R. Laney, Vice-President.

For many years the Lettermen have been an integral part of Pinkerton. Their efforts to aid Mr. Hackler and the Faculty have helped to make Pinkerton a school of which we all can be proud. Letters were again given out this year to several senior boys who maintained a 90% average or better. We should all realize that it would not be P. A. without the Lettermen.

letterwomen promote school spirit

Officers

Julie Holaday, President; Susan Bartlett, Secretary; Donna Sanerib, Secretary-Treasurer.

To receive a Pinkerton Letter, a girl must participate in enough school activities to earn the required number of points. A senior may also obtain a scholastic letter by maintaining a 90% or better scholastic average. The main purpose of the letterwomen is to help with problems that the girls may have and to aid in maintaining the rules of the school.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society at Pinkerton is composed of approximately thirty members from the upper classes. Many students from Pinkerton who are now attending various colleges and universities have spoken at the meetings and have discussed college life with the members. A handbook of information about the school has been published which should help the present students to understand the rules and traditions of Pinkerton.

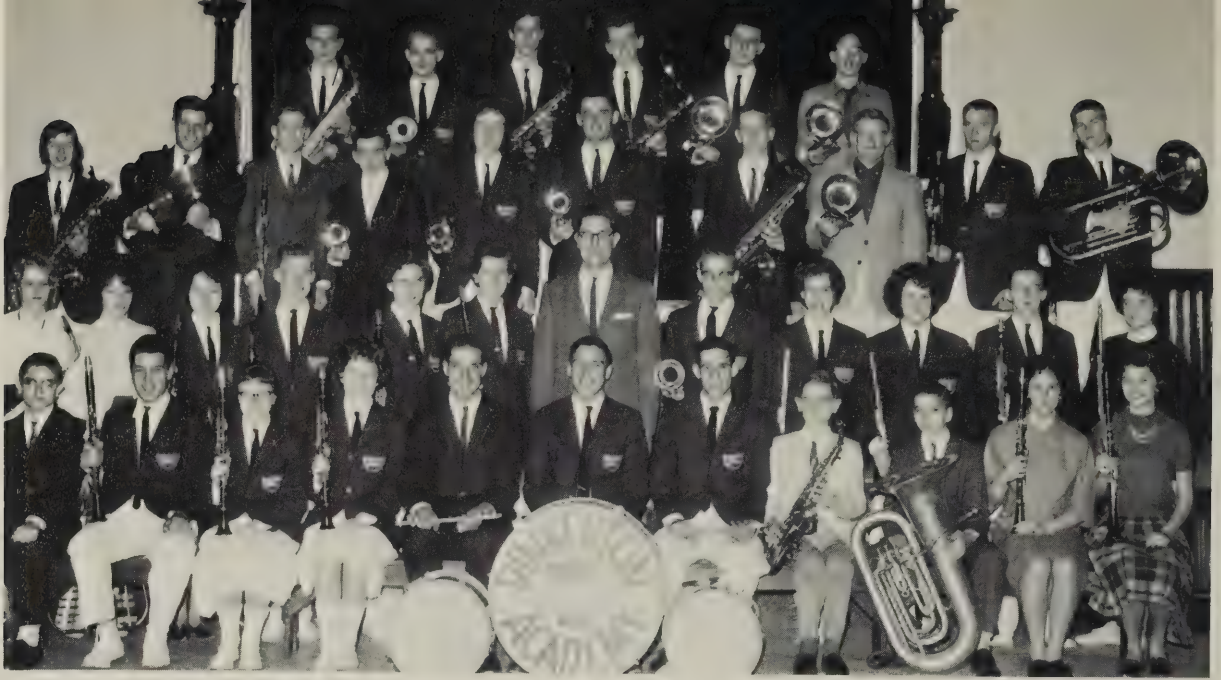

Library Staff

Members of the Library Staff work with Mrs. Cornwell to keep the library running efficiently. They can be seen performing their duties daily-checking books, sorting mail, and keeping lists of students using the library. When time and their studies permit, they can be found helping to catalogue books or arranging books already on the shelves. The students on the staff enjoy their work and are appreciative of the opportunity to help fellow students and their school.

our music on the march

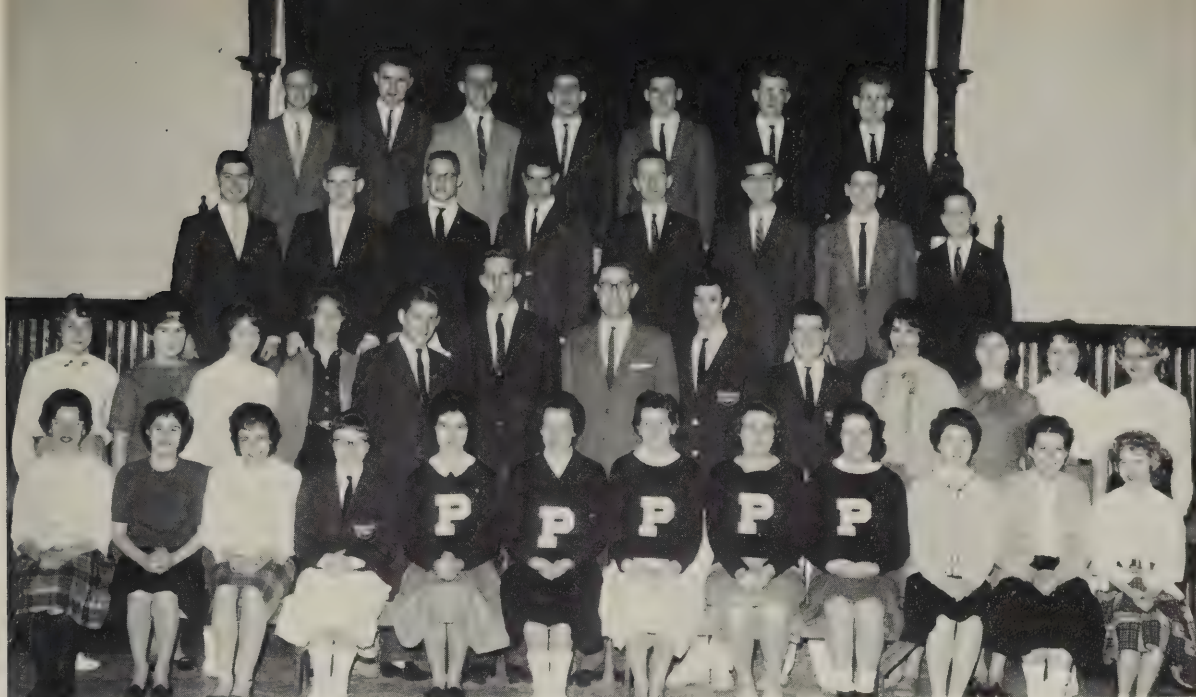

The school year started off with a busy and exciting season for the band. Before long the well-loved marches were heard at football rallies, parades, and in Chapel. The band not only sounded good but also looked good. The members appeared in smart-looking red and white uniforms. At the close of the parade and rally season, the band started to prepare for concerts and then the glitter of marching returned. The enrollment of the band has increased considerably this year.

In the fall the majorettes, with the Pinkerton band, entered a competition with four other school band units at the Fall Foliage Festival in Warner, N. H. On November 11, the majorettes and band appeared in a Veterans Day parade in Chester, N. H. The band unit was also a part of the Memorial Day parade in Derry. The Majorettes, wearing their red uniforms, add much color to the band when performing for Pinkerton Academy.

The Literary Staff

The Critic Literary Staff had the difficult task of putting into words all the exciting experiences which the Class of '62 had during its three years at Pinkerton. We had to choose a cover and a theme which would express the warm, personal feeling that we felt toward P. A. Our written assignments were difficult since we wanted to use the most descriptive words we could find, so that our life at P. A. would be recalled by them. We wrote, rewrote and revised until we felt that we had captured the spirit of the Class of '62.

Petey's one shining moment

Limbo's Lambs

Junior Play

"The Many Loves of Dobbie Gillis" was presented on April 27, 1961. We were proud that our play had everything necessary for success, even a French poodle and a bearded Maynard. Though many of us had no acting experience, we made our play a long-remembered triumph for the class of 1962. Our class set a new record by selling over 700 tickets.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

Say, you're cute, too!

Senior Play

On December 7 and 9, 1961, the curtain at the Adams Memorial Hall, rose to reveal a stage set for a play very different from any other given at P.A.

"You Can't Take It With You" was a pleasant play with a moral for adults and children, too. With our all-out ticket campaign we reached the 1300 mark on our giant thermometer which was displayed in the hall of the main building. After our patient director, Miss Garland, had worked with us for five weeks, opening night arrived. The enthusiastic cast of 19 drew a full house both nights making our senior play an even greater success than Dobie. Our hours of practice were rewarded tenfold and the cast sincerely wanted to do it again. After the second night's performance, we had a supper-party where we relived each moment with a sense of satisfaction. We owe our success to Miss Garland for without her help we could never have done it.

Just a quiet evening at home.

an enchanted evening

Junior Prom

February 10, 1961, finally came. The weeks of hard work and in-decision were over. The committee members relaxed; the trips into Boston, the harried saleswoman at Dennison's, the noon meetings, and the last minute problems were all behind them. The Chapel had been transformed into a Southern paradise. Refreshments, served by gentlemen attired in tuxedos, were eaten by candlelight. Strains of music flowed from instruments played by Mr. Robert Hutchins' Band.

Everything was perfect. The prettiest girls and the handsomest boys appeared that evening. We found it hard to recognize them as our schoolmates.

The tradition of saying the Class Cheer at school functions was revived. The "Roaring Class of 1962" could be heard above all else. When the evening came to a close, there was no one who could disagree about the fact that it had been "A Lovely Way to Spend an Evening."

Let's do it again!

the Tower and F.B.L.A. combine theory and practice

Tower Staff

The Tower staff has had a busy year. In October it was decided to publish the paper every two weeks. Although it has taken a lot of work on the part of the staff, we know that the students have enjoyed the paper.

We now have a foreign correspondent as Doreeta Meroff, an editor, recently moved to Guam. Her items about life on that island are of interest to all.

F. B. L. A.

The girls who belong to the F. B. L. A. have a chance to put into practice the theory they have learned in classes. The club sponsors speakers from the business world, trips to offices and special projects that benefit not only the club but also the school.

cheering our teams on to victory

Head Cheerleader Cheryle Wood

Our Pinkerton cheerleaders, in brilliant red uniforms, added a colorful touch to the football fields and the basketball courts during the past year. Each Friday, before a football game, everyone assembled on the front lawn and shouted the school cheer with our girls in red. Many new cheers were introduced during both the football and basketball seasons. The new drum cheer was very impressive and made all of us proud of our cheerleaders. It wouldn't be P.A. without them.

French Club

Under the able supervision of Mr. MacDonald and Miss Tremblay, the members of the French Club have had the opportunity of learning and doing many interesting things. A trip to Boston and Christmas caroling have been the highlights of the year's program. Finding it difficult to converse in French, we made many new additions to the language, but by the end of the year, we were able to converse fluently in French and to understand our friends.

Latin Club

The Latin Club was formed by the first and second year Latin students so that they could increase their knowledge of the Roman heritage. Many talks have been given by students who were especially interested in different aspects of the Roman era. Movies and slides which were taken of historical places in Rome have been shown to the club. Although this club is comparatively new, it is popular with the students.

Air Plane Club

Because of the interest of a group of boys, possibly future astronauts, Pinkerton now has a model plane club. The aim of the group is to provide a chance for all who are interested in flying to meet and to exchange ideas. Members make their own models and test them.

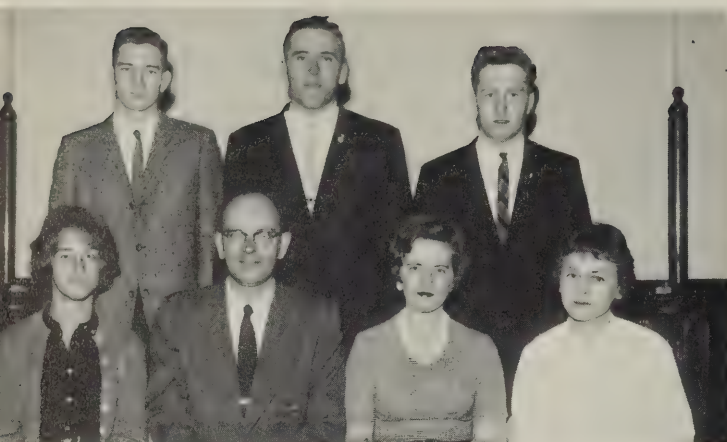

F. F. A.

Not all of the F.F.A. meetings are of a serious nature as recreation is planned and enjoyed by the boys. Panel discussions, movies, and guest speakers provide a variety at the meetings.

underclass review

When the freshmen entered P. A. last fall, it was the first Freshman Class at Pinkerton in ten years. In a few weeks, the members of the Freshman and Sophomore Classes were paraded before the entire school wearing the latest fashions. In October they were formally welcomed by the Senior Class of 1962 at the Freshman-Sophomore Reception.

The Junior Class has had a busy year also. Their activities began with the Junior Prom in mid-February. They had been busily planning for this event since November. Their activities came to a climax when the Junior Play was presented in May.

ATHLETICS

It wouldn't be P. A. without the many athletic activities. Whether we played or watched, won or lost, school spirit and enthusiasm were always present.

The team was made up of 47 players this year: 10 seniors, 11 juniors, 17 sophomores and 9 freshmen. The boys, coached by Mr. Root, Mr. Knowles, and Mr. Riddervold, gave the spectators many exciting moments on the gridiron. They ended the season with a 5-3 record.

The team won its opener against Sanborn at Kingston with a rousing 26-6 victory. The highlight of this game was the fact that all the backs scored at least two points. The Astronauts, as the team is now called, gave the spectators a look at a well-balanced offense. After the first game, Pinkerton supporters realized that the 1961 season would be one to remember.

Although the St. John game was a defeat for Pinkerton, everyone must agree it was the most exciting game. It was a perfect fall afternoon when the red and green clashed in what turned out to be a game that will be remembered for a long time. The second half proved more than exciting as our boys scored two quick touchdowns to put them back into the game and to make known the fact that Astronauts play true Pinkerton football.

hoopsters post winning record

The 1961-62 basketball season ended with a 12-2 record, which shows the tremendous amount of time the boys spent improving their game. On the floor, the team played with true Pinkerton sportsmanship and never let a game go by without many exciting moments. Two perfect examples of this type of basketball would be the Newmarket game which we won 61-47; however the result does not show the tie which existed with less than twenty seconds left in the game. The Somersworth game, which we won by a score of 60-68, was another thriller.

The team, coached by Mr. Perry, consisted of four seniors and one junior. The high scorers of the season were Butch Antaya and Dick Misiaszek.

The JV's, also coached by Mr. Perry, sported an 11-3 record and gave us an optimistic look at next year's varsity squad.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The 1961-1962 Girls' Team was low on experience but high on spirit and determination. The girls looked forward to another season of wins, some losses, new friendships, and unforgettable memories. Our able coaches, Miss Cournoyer, and Miss Roulston, gave never-ending encouragement to the players and co-captains Donna Sanerib and Gail Sargent. The support of the faculty, the classes, and particularly a group of senior boys, helped to lead us to a record of 6 wins-7 losses. This included a long-awaited win over Exeter.

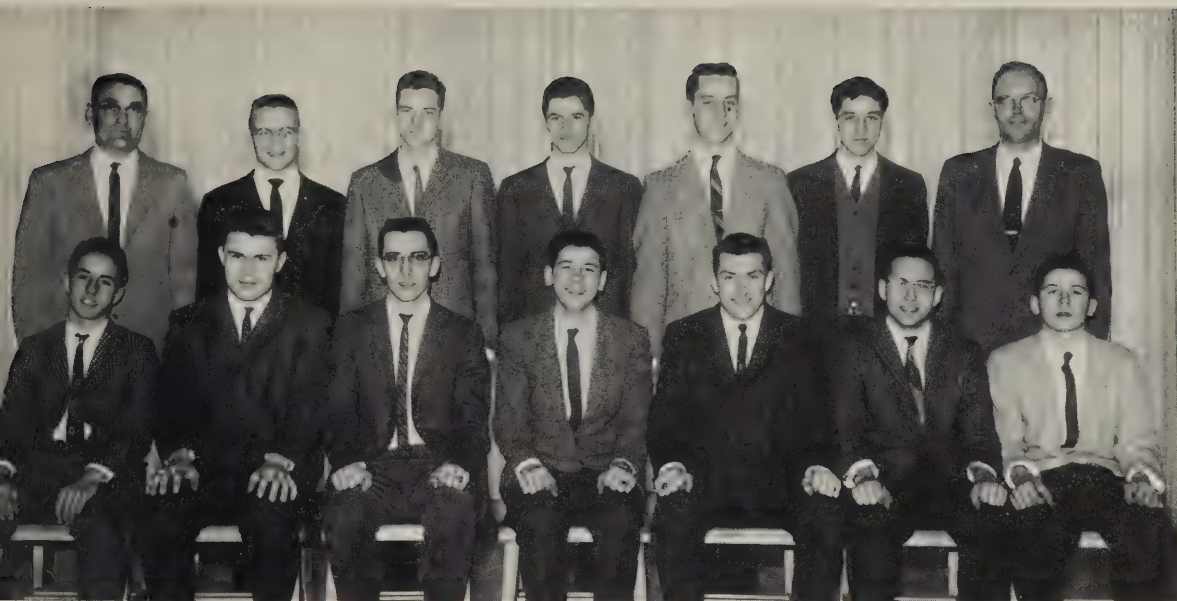

There is no doubt that every game will long be remembered by the players. But perhaps the game that will provide the most vivid recollections is the one we played against the "Ivah-hoes." This team was truly one of our toughest opponents. There will always be some doubt as to what the final score was, but it is generally conceded that the "Ivah-hoes" defeated the Girls' Varsity by a score of 12-11.

The games are over. The practices have ended. The memories of a fun-filled season will long remain.

TRACK AND BASEBALL SQUADS

Baseball

As soon as the snow has melted from the ground, many boys begin practicing with the coaches, Mr. Root and Mr. Riddervold for a successful season of baseball. Although long hours of hard work are involved, the boys are rewarded when they produce a winning season.

Track

The track team has been growing each year. With the new track and new members the team is experiencing more enjoyment and more success. The boys begin "shaping up" even before winter is over by weight lifting under the direction of the coaches, Mr. Conner and Mr. Coller. Then when spring has arrived, the team participates in many meets with other schools.

R. Butler, P. Bolster, R. Laney. Third Row: R. Freer, N. Brooks, S. Fullerton, B. Wheeler.

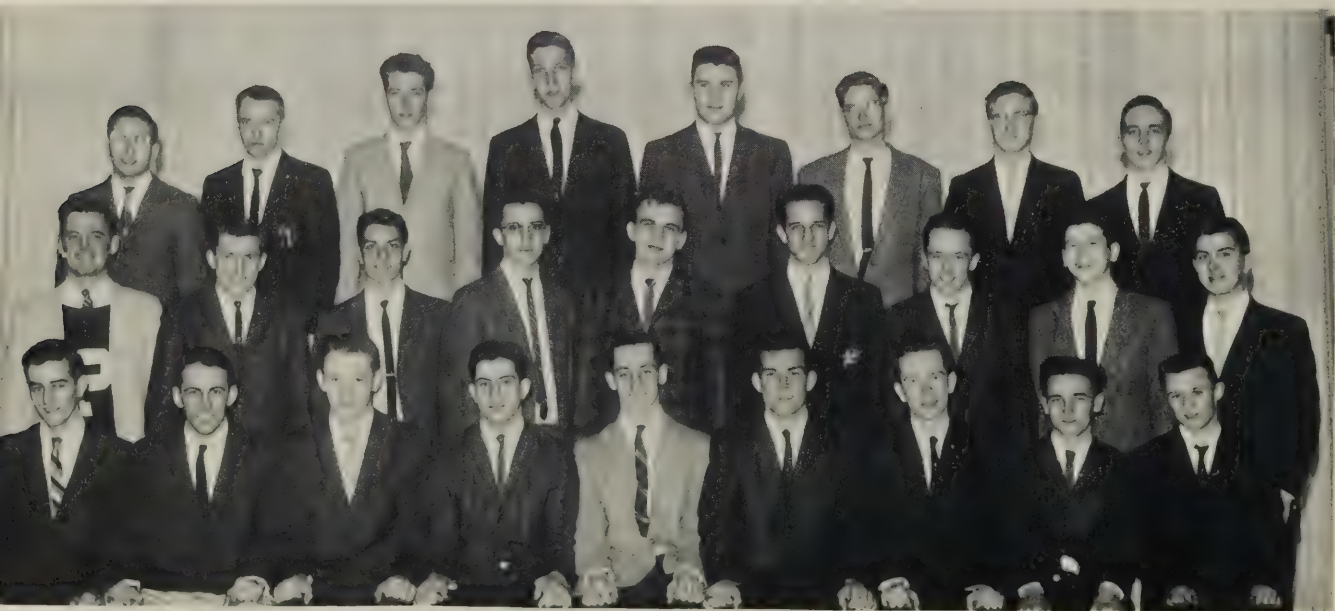

Touch Football

From the first day of school until snow covers the ground, a hardy group of boys participate in touch football. All the teams put forth their best efforts to win the championship. Everyone participating has enjoyed the many afternoons spent playing touch football.

Volleyball

One of the most popular sports at Pinkerton is volleyball. Whenever weather permits, there is always a group of boys on the volleyball court busily engaged in a battle to win. This year, despite the keen competition from the other classes, the Seniors, led by Captain Bartlett Wheeler, managed to obtain the trophy.

competition of Intramural Sports

Field Hockey

Our senior girls field hockey team had a good season this year. With only two losses they captured first place.

Because of the interest in this sport, the girls challenged the senior boys to a game; however, the girls had to swallow their pride when the boys defeated them with a score of 5-2. Everyone who was present agreed it was an exciting game.

Seated: C. Fontaine, C. Perry, L. Sawyer, E. Houston, J. Holaday. Standing: L. Welch, M. Zimmerman, R. Dauksza, N. Tinkham, J. Morneau, A. DePalmenary.

Volleyball

Volleyball has become a very popular game here at P. A., and our senior girls were among those who played during both the fall and spring. Although they didn't win all their games, they all enjoyed participating.

First Row: B. Boulter, L. Welch, G. Sargent, L. Cleary, P. Mills, N. Tinkham. Second Row: J. Tinkham, J. Morneau, D. Sanerib, J. Holaday, P. Roberts, S. Putnam, A. DePalmenary. Third Row: S. Morgan, M. Zimmerman, J. Genuardo, C. Wood, D. Papp, C. Perry.
